

Renewing Membership using Lifesaving Online

To make it easier for members and committee, as well as helping to look after our environment, Woonona SLSC encourages all new and renewing members to complete their membership documentation online. This can be done using one of Surf Lifesaving Australia's web services, Lifesaving Online. The system is secure and your information is private. As has always been the case, only authorised committee members at Woonona SLSC will be able to access your private information.

Benefits of Using Lifesaving Online

- Join a surf club or other SLSA affiliated organisation.
- Renew your membership at a surf club or other SLSA affiliated organisation

Before you start & background information

Every person in the Surf Life Saving organisation has their own entry in the national membership database to record their own awards, assessments and patrol hours and this website reflects that. All accounts created on Lifesaving Online (LSO) are for individuals only and not families. If you are a parent registering your children, you will need to create separate accounts for each child.

Not Registered yet? - Creating an Account & Getting Started

- If you have not already registered with Lifesaving Online, go to the Lifesaving Online website at www.lifesavingonline.com.au
- Click on the create account button.
- Select 'Yes' to answer the question 'Are you now or have you ever been a member of a Surf Club or SLSA Organisation?'
- Fill in your name, date of birth and preferred method of authentication. Note: your email address or mobile phone number must match what is recorded with your club or a match will NOT be achieved.
- Choose a login name, usually something like msmith or djones (click the [\[check\]](#) link to make sure the user name is available)
